

Le Farnatchi

Comprising ten suites set across six merchant houses, Le Farnatchi is just moments from the buzz of the Medina. An emerald courtyard pool welcomes guests, and there's a rooftop dining area and gardens with views onto the city and Atlas Mountains. Opposite the hotel is Le Trou Au Mur. With a name meaning 'The Hole In The Wall', the restaurant focuses on the authentic dishes usually served in private Moroccan homes. Those in need of relaxation should visit the Farnatchi Spa, which has two marble hammams with vaulted ceilings, as well as a wide range of treatments and therapies. The team can help organise everything from nights under the stars in the desert to sunrise hot air balloon rides and sidecar rides around the medina for children. Best of all, Le Farnatchi is available to rent exclusively, sleeping up to 20 guests.
